REFLECTIONS FROM REV JOSH JONES

“Imagination is the voice of daring. God dared to imagine everything.”

Henry Miller

“Without imagination, scientific discoveries, art, music and literature couldn’t exist.”

Lloyd Alexander

Two quotes and words of wisdom about the importance of our God-given imagination. Last week Charmaine invited us to use our imaginations to engage with the Baptism of Jesus through a centuries old Icon. An invitation to use different pathways of our brains to engage with scripture and our faith.

Today I want to keep the imagination groove going with the help of a spiritual practise given by St Ignatius and a well-known song. The whole purpose of this is to engage with scripture through fresh eyes and to enable a deeper encounter with Christ. Every day in all situations you and I are given the possibility of encountering the living risen Christ.

Like Nathanael in today’s Gospel, are we open and willing to ‘come and see’ Jesus, on our unfolding faith journey of discovery? To know and to be known.
